STREETS AND AVENUES.

The name, location, system of numbering, and the most accessible way to reach any given number by car line is shown in the following list.

It should be understood that the decimal system of numbering is used, i.e., 100 numbers assigned to each block, with blocks numbered from the river west on streets running east and west. By this arrangement the house numbers in each block indicate the number of blocks they are from the river; thus, Twelfth Street is 1200 west, twelve blocks from the river; Jefferson Avenue is 2600 west; Grand Avenue is 3600 west; King's Highway is 5000 west; World's Fair is 6000 west (about six miles); they are twenty-six, thirty-six, fifty and sixty blocks, respectively, from the river. If

You divide the house number by 100 the result will, as a general rule, give the number of blocks you are from the river. Having ascertained this, subtract it from sixty and it will give you the number of blocks you are east of the World's Fair. On the streets running north and south they are numbered from the dividing line, which is Market street, from the river to Jefferson avenue, and Laclede avenue west thereof.

For instance, the number 1126 Olive street would indicate that it was between 11th and 12th streets. The number 410 N. Broadway would indicate its location as between the fourth and fifth block north of Market street. One described as 2600 S. Broadway would indicate its location as 26 blocks south of Market street.

Even numbered buildings are on the south and east side of the street, while those bearing odd numbers are on the north and west side of the street.

RULE FOR ASCERTAINING THE DIRECTION YOU ARE WALKING, APPLICABLE TO ST. LOUIS.

If you are walking with the buildings on your left and the street on your right, observe a house number and at the first corner turn to the left and observe a house number on that street; if both numbers are odd you were walking east and turned north; if both numbers are even you were walking west and turned south. If the house number on the first street was odd, and on the second street was even, you were walking north and turned west; if the house number on the first street was even, and on the second street was odd, you were walking south and turned east.

If you are walking with the buildings to your right and the street to your left, observe a house number and at the first corner turn to the right and observe a house number on that street; if both numbers are odd you were walking south and turned west; if both numbers are even you were walking north and turned east; if the house number on the first street was odd and on the second street even, you were walking west and turned north; if the house number on the first street was even, and on the second street odd, you were walking east and turned south.

To reach any given number, directions are given on the presumption that the inquiry originates at the Union Station, and designates the car line to be taken. If a transfer is to be made, the point and the name of the line, if different than the street name, is shown.
